DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election without traverse of Group II, claims 43-54 and 79-102, in Paper No. 16 is acknowledged.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 43 –45, 49-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Balasubramanyam et al. (5,923,999).

As to claims 43, 49, Balasubramanyam et al. (5,923,999) discloses a semiconductor device having a semiconductor layer gate oxide layer 18 over a substrate 11; and a gate electrode 22, 24 adjacent to the gate oxide 18 with a gate insulating layer 20 interposed therebetween, wherein the gate electrode has a first conductive layer 22 comprising a tungsten/ nitride and a second conductive layer 24 comprising a tungsten on the first conductive layer. See figures 8 and 13-14.

As to claims 44, 50, the electrode is located over the semiconductor layer. See figure 13.

As to claims 45, 51, because electrical resistivity of tungsten material is the same, it is inherent that Balasubramanyam et al. (5,923,999) meets the claim's limitation. See figure 14.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

6. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 46-48, 52-54, 79-102 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Balasubramanyam et al. (5,923,999) in view of Seo et al. (5,825,437)

Art Unit: 2814

Balasubramanyam et al. (5,923,999) discloses the invention substantially as claimed. However, Balasubramanyam et al. (5,923,999) does not teach the semiconductor device is an active matrix LCD device.

Seo et al. (5,825,437) discloses a semiconductor device with a gate electrode having a first conductive layer 2b and a second conductive layer 3b over a substrate 1, wherein the semiconductor device is liquid crystal display device for picture elements. The first conductive layer 2b of the gate electrode has tapered cross section. See figure 11 and column 1, lines 9-20.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to construct the invention of Balasubramanyam et al. (5,923,999) for the use in LCD in area for picture elements or imagining, as taught by Seo et al. (5,825,437), for providing better structure with an enhanced gate structure.

The courts have concluded that there is no requirement that a motivation to make the modification be expressly articulated. The test for combining references is what the combination of disclosures taken as a whole would suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art. In re McLaughlin, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971). Also, references are evaluated by what they suggest to one versed in the art, rather than by their specific disclosures. In re Bozek, 163 USPQ 545 (CCPA 1969).

As to claims 79, 85, Seo et al. (5,825,437) discloses the first conductive layer 2b has tapered cross section. See figure 11.

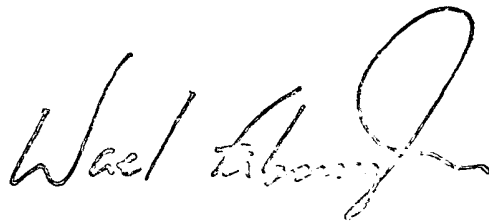

As to claims 91, 97, Seo et al. (5,825,437) discloses the second conductive layer 3b having a thickness of 3000 angstrom which is equal to 300 nm. See col 8, line 54.
